Senior Columnist and Film Critic
The Indian Express

Shubhra Gupta is a senior columnist and film critic at The Indian Express. She has written a widely-read and respected weekly review column in the Express for over 20 years. Apart from reviews, she writes on the cyclical, continuous connections between cinema and society and the links that connect audiences and creators of images, in the opinion pages of her paper. She was the member of the Central Board of Film Certification (CBFC) during 2012-2015, where she put her deep knowledge of cinema to use in strengthening certification procedures in the country. She curates and conducts the hugely popular platform, The Indian Express Film Club, in Delhi and Mumbai. It is an interactive space for readers who are also lovers of good cinema, where the screening is followed by animated discussion that she moderates. She has travelled extensively within and outside India to cover film festivals, since the early 1990s. Shubhra has served on selection panels and juries on the Panorama and the international film sections of the International Film Festival of India (IFFI) for several years. Shubhra has been the recipient of the prestigious Ramnath Goenka award for the best writing on film in 2012. Her first book, 'Fifty Films That Changed Bollywood', published by HarperCollins in 2017, is the repository of her work and knowledge over the past twenty years, and shines a mirror on how films change us, and we change them.
